The antenna was a complex build, but once operational, the performance is enormous. If paired with a radio that can supply VFO information via CAT, the agility of the controller to match frequency is phenomenal and a thrill to watch.

One of the BEST tricks this system can accomplish is a 180-degree reversal in pattern in 3 seconds. Fast enough to be able to be midway between working two stations and maintain solid copy on both with a button push!

I've had zero issues with this Yagi antenna but one negative note, documentation could definitely be improved.
