

I love my DB11 beam. It has been with me through two house moves and has even survived a tower collapse! The performance is superb, and it has been quite reliable over the 8 years I have owned it and scored some great DX contacts.

