

I've had an Urban Beam up and operating for 2 years. It went together fairly easily with only me working on it, though it really pays to read the entire manual a couple of times and to watch a video. My antenna has worked flawlessly. It's hard to believe it's only 2 elements (and a dipole on 40). It has survived some very high winds and icing that took down wire antennas. Great product.

